Volunteer at the Boone County Arboretum

October is Native Plants Month at the Boone County Arboretum! Come out on October 7 and October 21, from 9:00 a.m. to 12:00 p.m. to clean up, dig and divide plants in our native plant garden. Learn how to grow and identify various native perennial plants under the guidance of Kris Stone, director of the arboretum, and Mark Jacobs, Boone County Conservation District conservation technician. Excess plant material will be free for all volunteers who help us tidy up the garden, along with a free seed packet of the KY Department of Fish and Wildlife's 2008 Wildflower of the Year.

Cancelled if it is raining.

Don't miss this rare opportunity for free plants for your garden, while helping beautify and increase the educational value of an environmentally important area of the Arboretum.
